HITLER CONFERS WITH WAR LEADERS

Indications No Immediate Reply Will Be Made To Roosevelt's Pleas

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today definitely decided to stay his hand from any major move in Europe until Great Britain replies to the message taken to London by British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson.

In the meantime, Hitler remained in consultation with his naval and military chiefs at the chancellery.

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering and Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop were present at the conferences, which proceeded without a halt during a day that alternated between hopes of peace and fears of war.

Proclamation Drafted

Meanwhile, there were indications that Hitler had already drafted a proclamation to the nation, presumably establishing a state of emergency, but its broadcast was withheld pending developments in London.

One week ago we took off our hats to the weather man, because he had favored us with such fine weather for the various important reunions which were held during the week. Today we again doff our headgear for the weather which we have had during the past week, while the county fair was being held. Most of the important events are now out of the way, and if old Jupiter Pluvius has any showers up his sleeve, we'll be disposed to just let 'er rain.

There are quite a number of descendants of original settlers in Lawrence county, but Mrs. William Pinkerton of Edinburg, R. D. 1 believes that there are few whose record goes back any further than that of the families with which she is connected. "My husband's grandfather," she says, "settled on a farm in Pulaski township, around 1800, in what is now known as No. 9 district, Fulkmann school. There were four generations of the Pinkertons who went to this school. My grandfather, Donaldson, also settled on a farm in Neshaunock township around 1800. My father, John Donaldson, lived on the farm until 1923, and four generations of the family have gone to Mitchell school. My brother, William Donaldson, still lives on a part of the old farm."

If you have attended many picnics or family reunions lately, you may have noticed that there are always plenty of pickles on the bill of fare. They come in jars, bottles and loose. The loose ones, some of them newly made, are particularly appetizing. Most all farmers and gardeners hereabout raise cucumbers, provided the beetles will let them, and cucumbers, as you know, are the fore- (Continued From Page One)

Peaceful Settlement Rumors Sweep Europe

By International News Service
Rumors that a peaceful settlement of Europe's crisis is in sight swept Europe today.

Developments:
PARIS.—H. R. Knickerbocker disclosed growing indications that there will be no war, but a second Munich, with Poland taking the role of Czechoslovakia.

BERLIN.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler decided definitely to stay his hand from any major move until Great Britain replies to a message carried to London today by British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson.

LONDON.—Britain's ambassador returned from Berlin, bearing, it was understood, Hitler's final terms for peace—said to be immediate restoration of Danzig to the Reich and partial partition of Poland.

BERLIN.—Hitler stands firm on his demands for restoration of Germany's 1914 frontiers, but is willing to let Britain find a way to delay the crisis, which might afford a chance for another four or five-power conference. Reports said Hitler may go before the Reichstag today with his last challenge to Poland. Officials remained silent on President Roosevelt's peace appeal, while the press said it was a domestic maneuver.

WASHINGTON.—President Roosevelt pinned his hopes for peace on a second appeal to Hitler, after President Moscicki, of Poland, accepted the American's suggestions for negotiations.

WARSAW.—Poland reiterated her determination to go to war rather than face another "Munich."

ROME.—Premier Mussolini called a meeting of key ministers, military, air and naval chiefs to receive reports on the nation's war preparedness. It Duce twice saw the German ambassador yesterday, but the purport of the meetings, obviously important, was undisclosed.

PARIS.—France found tension easier, but stood firmly by its pledge to fight for Poland.

Knickerbocker Sees Signs No War To Come

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER

PARIS, Aug. 26.—The European scene changes so rapidly that what seems true this morning may not seem so by this afternoon.

But at this moment a number of signs add up to convince skeptical observers that there may very well be no war, but instead a new Munich, with Poland taking the role of Czechoslovakia.

Wave Of Pessimism

Because Frenchmen are aware that such an event would mean the "end of France" but quite literally would mean the end of any chance of Europe defending itself against final complete domination by Hitler, a wave of pessimism swept through governmental and diplomatic quarters as fact after fact appeared to point in the direction of capitulation.

Leading fact is postponement of Polish and French mobilization, which according to the London Daily Express took place on the advice of Britain.

Polish mobilization was to have been decreed at 3 o'clock this morning, while France's formal general mobilization to add another million (Continued On Page Two)

France Calls Up More Reservists

PARIS, Aug. 26.—In the face of incessant rumors that a peaceful settlement of Europe's crisis may be in sight, France stepped up her mobilization today by calling to the colors three additional categories of reservists totalling several hundred thousand men.

A brief communique did not disclose the exact number affected, merely stating:
"Officers and men of mobilization numbers 1, 5 and 6 are recalled to the colors. They must conform to the mobilization regulations detailed on their cards."

France has a new system of mobilization under which entire categories instead of classes are called up.

HENDERSON BRINGS HITLER'S PROPOSAL

Believe British Reply Is Being Framed—Seek To Speed Answer

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 26.—King George VI and Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today plunged into a series of vitally important diplomatic and political conferences with all concerned maintaining the deepest secrecy concerning a reported "peace plan" sent to the British government by Chancellor Hitler.

Henderson Returns

Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Berlin, authoritatively reported to be carrying with him the details of Hitler's proposal, arrived at Croydon airport by special plane from the German capital at 12:15 p. m. (7:15 a. m. EDT).

Preceded by a police escort, Henderson rode in a fast automobile directly to the foreign office, where he immediately went into conference with Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax before proceeding to No. 10 Downing street to see the prime minister.

Henderson arrived in a Junkers low-wing plane placed at his disposal by the German government.

He appeared tired and worried as he stepped out of the machine, but he threw off obvious depression for a moment to pose for photographers.

Crowd Is Silent

He hopped into the waiting car immediately after.

A large crowd watched his arrival and departure without any demonstration, in almost complete silence.

It was intimated every effort will be made to provide Chancellor Hitler with a reply to his "proposals" by some time tonight.

The king conferred early with Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

In his second plea to the German Fuehrer within 24 hours, the president transmitted a Polish offer to settle its controversy with Germany through direct negotiation or by means of a neutral conciliator.

Mr. Roosevelt earlier had urged (Continued On Page Two)

No indication whatever was given as to what the messages from Chancellor Hitler or Mussolini's replies contained but Italians who recalled the events preceding the Munich conference last year viewed the frantic last minute telephonic exchanges between the axis partners as an indication a peaceful solution of the crisis was in sight.

Poland's Stand Is Not Changed

Spokesman Says Nation Will Oppose Dismemberment Of Her Territory

(International News Service)

WARSAW, Aug. 26.—In stronger terms than ever before, Poland today through an official spokesman, reiterated her decision to go to war to prevent dismemberment of her territory.

Replying to reports from Berlin and elsewhere that a Munich-type settlement is imminent, the spokesman asserted:

1. Poland is irrevocably opposed to incorporation of Danzig into the Reich, exclusion of the free city from the Polish customs area, submission of Polish rights in Danzig.

2. Poland is also unalterably opposed to any form of "control" of Danzig "by a third party," of interference with the rights of the Polish minority in the free city.

Violation of any of these points, the spokesman stated, would be considered a violation of Polish interests and would compel Warsaw to take appropriate and "far-reaching steps" to defend the nation.

This belligerent declaration coincided with President Ignacy Moscicki's reply to President Roosevelt's peace plea, in which the Polish chief of state thanked the president.

France Insists Polish Pledges Be Carried Out

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Aug. 26.—All German talk of a "deal" or even a "little war" through which, in the end, Germany would get what she wants of Poland was drowned out today with French insistence that pledges to Poland remain inviolate.

Negotiation remains possible, as was made clear in Premier Edouard Daladier's speech to the French people last night, but no doubt was left that if Poland decides to fight, France will fight too.

Today found French mobilization practically complete, with thousands of troops still streaming to the frontiers, their blue-gray uniforms giving dramatic backing to France's unchanged attitude in spite of the word that Chancellor Hitler has sent a new proffer to London.

Nazi Plan Of Attack On Poland

This Central Press map shows the three points of attack on Poland which the German high command is reported to have resolved upon in event of the outbreak of war. The main concentration of German troops, in East Prussia, would march straight down the eastern bank of the Vistula river. Another German army, in Pomerania, just opposite the Polish port of Gdynia, and a third concentrated near Breslau would attack from those points.

Public Wedding Is Closing Fair Feature

High light of the closing day of the New Castle Fair, Harlansburg road, on Friday was the public wedding of Walter A. Logan, 605 Highland avenue, and Miss Alice Mae White, 109 North Ray street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John E. McVaine, pastor First Presbyterian church.

It was the first time a public wedding was staged at the Fair ground and the stand was packed. A large crowd also assembled against the fences to witness the ceremony which was performed solemnly at the west end of the judges' stand on the race track. An altar had been erected on a white covered truck.

The best man and bridesmaid were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Logan, of 605 Highland avenue. The groom's brother to the groom, the bride's brother to the bride, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Logan, of 605 Highland avenue. The groom's brother to the groom, the bride's brother to the bride, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Logan, of 605 Highland avenue.

The ring ceremony was used. Following the wedding and a dinner the newlyweds departed for a honeymoon trip to New York and Canada.

The young couple received a living room suite and other appropriate gifts, as a result of the public ceremony.

Closing Day

In addition to this event at the fair on the closing day there was a pace and a trot, the Flying X rodeo show, and a farm machinery exhibit. Hundreds of people travelled up and down the midway and while the crowd was not nearly as large as Thursday it was pleasing for the last day.

Ideal weather existed throughout the fair. There were many splendid displays. The attendance alone on Thursday was greater than the combined attendance of last season and considering conditions in this section it is believed that the fair this season was a success.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug. 26.—Fourteen persons were hospitalized and damage was estimated at $5,000 today in rioting during which a crowd of more than 5,000 broke up a Communist meeting last night. The injured included six police.

Early today, an estimated 2,000 persons gathered around the home of Mayor Maury Maverick, former congressman, and threats to "run him out of town" were heard. He had refused to revoke a permit for the Communist meeting. His home was roped off for protection.

Among the most seriously injured was Patrolman A. R. Gonzales, fractured skull. City Fireman M. H. Williams and George Bartholomew, newspaper photographer, also suffered serious head injuries when struck by flying bricks.

Approximately 150 persons were gathered in the municipal auditorium, for an address by Mrs. Emma Tanayuca Brooks, wife of the Communist candidate for governor of Texas in the last election, when a part of the crowd broke in on them shortly after 8 p. m.

Britain Frames Reply To Hitler's Latest Proposals

Special Cabinet Session Is Called To Decide On Stand

AMBASSADOR TO TAKE REPLY BACK

French And Polish Ambassadors Asked For Government's Views

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The cabinet of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain convened in emergency session tonight to draft a reply to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's peace bid which Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson will fly to Berlin tomorrow.

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The entire British cabinet was called to meet in special session tonight after Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Germany, brought to London a message from Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler that may mean peace or war in Europe.

The cabinet will meet at 6:30 p. m. (1:30 p. m. E. D. T.)

The British government immediately summoned the French and Polish ambassadors and asked them to ascertain their governments' attitude toward Hitler's suggestions in time to place them before the cabinet session.

Henderson immediately visited King George at Buckingham Palace, after which he may be sent back to Berlin presumably to transmit to the Fuehrer Great Britain's reaction to proposals voiced in a mysterious conference between Hitler and the envoy in Berlin yesterday.

In Long Conference

Henderson conferred for more than three hours with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax. The latter afterward talked with Charles Corbin, French ambassador to London, at the foreign office.

French sources said that Corbin went to Whitehall, at the invitation of Lord Halifax to obtain a fill-in (Continued On Page Two)

Japan To Revise Foreign Policy

Fear Soviet To Increase Raids

Momentous Decisions Are Anticipated On Arrival Of Emperor In Tokyo

FRENCH CONCESSION BLOCKADE LIFTED

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Aug. 26.—Fears that Soviet Russia will redouble air raids against the Manchukuo frontier with outer Mongolia as a result of the Nazi-Soviet pact, caused Japan today to plan a drastic revision of foreign policy. Japan was openly dismayed and offended by Germany's revocation of the anti-commintern pact with signature of the Nazi-Bolshevik alliance.

Arrival of Emperor Hirohito in Tokyo became the signal for what were authoritatively anticipated would be "momentous decisions" reshaping Japanese policies in the Far East in China and in Europe.

An indication of the sudden change in Japanese relations with other powers, came with the lifting of the Japanese blockade of the French concession in Tientsin.

All key ambassadors, including the Japanese envoy in Washington, it was believed, may be recalled for an imperial conference to frame new Japanese policies.

An authorized spokesman indicated Japan was deeply concerned over the possibility that Soviet Russia might attack Japanese interests and frontiers while Europe is held at bay by Germany.

Private citizens openly expressed their disgust at the Nazi vote face.

This war scare is giving folks a good chance to brush up on their geography. Most grown-ups studied geography in their school days, and imagined that they had the situation well in hand. But the geography of Europe is not much like that of the United States. Here we draw a map and it stays put, but over there lines are continually changing. Just now the newspapers are full of maps, and they offer an opportunity to at least see what the map of Europe looks like today. But who knows what it will show next year?

When driving out the New Castle-Wilmington road, just take a look at a fine bed of gladioli at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Ferver on the east side of the road, about half a mile from the city line. Both Mr. and Mrs. Ferver are great lovers of flowers and spend a great deal of their time teaching them to look pretty. They have succeeded admirably with their gladioli, and they also have a lot of other posies that are worth seeing.

Announcement of a pig show by the 4-H club of the New Castle fair grounds next Tuesday, recalls that it is six years since the government undertook its deplorable slaughter of innocent pigs. Since that time production has been stepped up until today the hog population is almost as large as it was when the orders to kill and slay went forth. As a result, prices have been on the to-begone, but at current prices hogs still bring some two dollars a hundred more than they did when the government slaughter began.

If you don't want weeds on your lawn or in your garden next spring, this is the time to cut any you may find there at the present time. The weeds are now seeding and in a short time the seeds will be blown over every vacant lot within the city should be cut also. It may be hard to find the owners of some of them, but if they cannot be found it would be worth the while of persons living near to cut the weeds. Seeds blow a long distance.

No new detours are listed in the local district on the Detour Bulletin of the Pennsylvania Highway Department. Detour signs throughout the state are beginning to disappear, but a number of blue oiling signs are noted. Oiling will take place during the coming week on route 950 South of New Wilmington, according to the bulletin, and north of Grove City on Routes 58 and 78.

the last 24 hours to stand by for the manifesto, but its broadcast did not transpire.

Semi-official comment on President Roosevelt's second peace appeal to Hitler was more or less as follows:

"Since he is merely saying the same thing over and over and over again he can hardly be considered an impartial apostle of peace."

Negative Answer To Roosevelt

Therefore Germany's official reaction, is expected to be based on the thesis that there is nothing particularly urgent in what Mr. Roosevelt recommends. While the inevitable answer will be negative, it is bound to be slow in forthcoming.

Significantly, official contact between the Polish ambassador to Berlin and the Reich government was allowed to lapse. The Polish envoy, Josef Lipski, remained in Berlin however.

VITAL ISSUES IN POLAND'S PLIGHT

IT HAS been said that Danzig is not worth another World War. Neither, from this viewpoint, was Belgium worth a World War in 1914. Great Britain, in 1914 could not afford to risk a German Empire seated on the lower shores of the North Sea and in the Channel ports. The British statesman who observed that Britain would now fight in Poland to protect British interests in the Eastern Mediterranean put the situation in the nutshell of realism. There's more to it than that, much more. But Danzig is the outward and visible sign of a conflict between two great concepts in European civilization.

The entire world knows that Great Britain and France do not want to fight. The British government agreed that Danzig isn't worth a World War. But what is Chancellor Hitler's viewpoint? He demands the return of Danzig to the Reich and a "full settlement" with Poland on his own terms; otherwise, if Poland resists, Poland will be partitioned. The "full settlement" would, it is stated, be on the Bohemia-Moravia model—to wit, Poland would become a German protectorate.

Der Fuehrer wanted a Polish settlement on his own terms. Therefore, Messrs. Chamberlain and Daladier agreed that Danzig and what it represents can, under these circumstances, indeed be worth a European war. It is now clear that if the Poles fight, so will the British and French, aware of the tragic consequences to millions of their peoples, fearful of the hazard to European civilization itself, but determined that the rule of force in Europe shall be put to the challenge.

The phrase is used in one European dispatch that "Mr. Chamberlain is the prisoner of his people." Even had he been inclined to abandon Poland as Czechoslovakia was abandoned last September, the mood of England is one of calm resolution that if war is bound to come, it might as well come now, lest Hitler bestir Europe as never Napoleon bestrode it. The French are no less determined.

THE NATION'S CONGRESSMEN AT LARGE

Members of congress, in contrast to most of the population, are having a five-month vacation with pay. But not all are staying at home, fixing their political fences or loafing on the front porch—not when they can go junketing, hither and yon, at somebody else's expense—in this case, John Q. Taxpayer's.

The House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries has $15,000 for a survey of the fishing industry in Alaskan waters. This is the very time for such an imperative investigation. Inquiries into the state of the grapefruit industry in Florida can wait until winter.

Over in Northern Europe where anything above 50 in the shade is considered a scorching hot day, the Inter-Parliamentary Union beckons to another group of legislators.

But an ocean trip doesn't appeal to every congressman. He can spice the mainbrace and get half seas over at home. How about the national parks, out in the great open spaces? Don't they need to be inspected? The House Committee on Public Lands has a neat little fund for the purpose. Good! Let's go!

And Hawaii, the pearl of the Pacific, where beautiful brunettes drape floral garlands about the necks of masculine guests, much to their discomfort, and croon Aloha on their departure. A congressional party must examine our military defenses. But the list of joyful junkets for tired congressmen is as long as their expense accounts. And who would grudge these hard-working servants their carefree and bill-free holiday? They get only $10,000 a year.

BUSINESS PICKS UP

Although there may be some disposition to question the conclusion of Roger Babson that business is back to normal and that there remains only the necessity of overcoming the depression complex, the evidences of improvement are numerous and convincing.

There can no longer be any doubt that business conditions are substantially better, a fact which is made additionally significant by reason of the adverse circumstances under which the improvement has been made. For months the world has been in that twilight state that is neither war nor peace but still there has been continued progress all along the line.

Among the signs of business improvement noted by the United States Chamber of Commerce are the plans for raising new capital. August witnessed the first upturn in months in the aggregate of loans to industry by banks. Led by iron and steel production, industrial activity rose sharply in July, reaching the index figure of 102 on the Federal Reserve Board's seasonally adjusted tables and coming close to the levels reached last December.

The index of the Journal of Commerce for the last week in June was 27 per cent above the level of the corresponding period of 1938. Electric power production and freight car loadings have shown sharp rises, while copper sales and gasoline consumption are at new highs. Building construction contracts for the last six months have been larger than in any year since 1930. Automobile sales and output took an unexpected spurt at the end of June. Sales for the month were 70 per cent above those of a year ago.

While we still have 10,000,000 relief recipients among us, the rolls seem to be yielding to increasing employment in many cities and if recovery is not yet here, there is at least a bright array of impressive signs that the country is making progress toward its goal.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHICH CHILD WOULD YOU SEND TO COLLEGE?

Some while ago I presented in this column the problem: Suppose you were the parents of twins, a boy and a girl, both of whom graduated last June from high school in the upper quarters of their class. Both want to go to college, but you can scrape together only enough to send one of them for four years. What would you do?

Among the many responses were the following: Send the boy. Send the girl. Send them both for two years. Let them both find a job for a year and then go as long as the funds last. Put it up to them to decide. Send the one who would be most upset emotionally if not sent. Consider what each plans to do later.

A man who is a college senior writes: "We should also know what line of endeavor each would like to follow. A girl who desires to teach would seemingly cancel out the boy's desire to get a general education, beyond the formal education he is finishing. We must know the emotional stability of the individuals before we could decide the question! Which might readjust the quicker?"

One Mother's Verdict
A teacher and mother who has no college degree writes: "I would send the boy. The girl may need the college education but the boy will need it. Because of the accepted way of thinking the boy becomes a wage-earner, married or single, and after marriage the girl may of necessity become a wage earner. If so, there are a number of professions a girl may choose without a college education."

Here is what a girl high school graduate says: "I would put the proposition before them, tell them the circumstances and find out how they feel. If it was satisfactory to them, I would suggest that both of them wait a year, and in the meantime try to raise some money to help. I would probably be a little more ahead and have enough money to send both of them by the time the year was over. Some people think that if they don't go to college as soon as they graduate they won't go at all. But if they are really in earnest and want to go to college, they will be willing to wait for a year, at least and do all they can to help."

Night Classes Available
And let us not overlook the night college classes available in some cities. Also, there are correspondence courses. It is possible to get as much as a year of college credit by completing home study courses conducted by some of the state universities. Then, for nearly all who really care, there is the great university of books—the public library.

We need to remember that the chances for working one's way through college are not great; and far harder for a girl than a boy. It does seem too bad, that so many are sent to college who lack sufficient brains, or the character to profit from college, or both, while so many other youths, with ability and character are denied college education for the want of money. Too many young men and women are going to college at excessive sacrifices to themselves and their parents.

If you would like to have a list of books on college, kind of college, cost of college, or college and getting the most from college write me in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. In our neighborhood is a boy ten years old, who is a pest. He annoys the younger children and most parents drive him away. Should I do that?

A. If you are willing to spend the time and patience, you can help civilize this young barbarian. Invite him to your premises. Try to see that he gets satisfaction from proper fun. When he violates the rules of your place, quietly say to him that he will have to leave if he will learn that by conforming to the rules of your home he can enjoy being there. Lose no opportunity to compliment him in the presence of his parents for some worthy bit of behavior. Occasionally hire him to run an errand or seek some special favor from him when he is at your home. Anything you can do to make him feel worthy will bring out the best in him. Since other parents have ostracized his lad, your special consideration toward him will be peculiarly effective.

EVOLUTION

This thing called evolution is a process very slow.
The robin heard in Eden is the robin that we know.
And the man we know as Adam—first on earth—the Scripture say—
Perhaps was little different from the man we know today.

Throughout the countless ages men have loved and loved and dreamed.
But with all their gain in knowledge have but little better seemed.
As the first man warred with bluebeards so today the races fight
And the strongest rule the weakest without thought of wrong or right.

It's the same old Adam in us! We've increased the means of power, But what prompted ancient tyrants prompts the tyrant of the hour.
We've improved and we've invented and we've bettered countless things,
But we haven't changed the passions from which all that's evil springs.

The visitor smiled and bowed to a pretty girl and soon they were sailing around the floor. But he didn't know how to excuse himself and they went on and on together. After the sixth dance a young man approached the girl.

"Can I have a dance?" he asked. "Gladly," said the young lady, "as soon as I can get rid of this dummy without hurting his feelings."

Thus, they repeat, verbatim, conversations they have recently held with their employers, their partners in matrimony or someone with whom they have recently had business or social conversations. Saboteurs Are Worse Than Spies
Spy Chasing Goes On In Country
Sabotage Causes Far More Damage

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Uncle Sam's sleuths are having a glorious time just now chasing international spies all over the United States and our insular possessions. Ordinarily this country worries very much less about spies' activities than Old World countries do. However, dispatches say espionage agents are perfectly rampant in Europe at present, owing to the strained state of inter-governmental relationships there. And evidently we feel that we are as much entitled to a bad case of spy jitters as anybody is.

The quest for snoopers into our military, naval and miscellaneous defensive secrets is described as extending from Alaska to Puerto Rico, from the northeastern corner of Maine to the Gulf of California, from the Canadian border to the Panama canal, from the Pacific coast to Hawaii and on to the Philippines and even down into Latin America—on account of the Monroe Doctrine.

Director J. Edgar Hoover of the federal bureau of investigation is in charge of the campaign. Aiding the F. B. I. are the army and navy intelligence divisions, the customs service, the coast and postoffice inspectors and every other branch of Uncle Samuel's extensive corps of plain clothes men.

If this aggregation of talent fails to dig up some nice espionage cases, it'll be surprising. It's said to be probing the dirty work of more than 1,200 spying organizations already.

It may seem a little funny that our spy hunters raise such a hue-and-cry before they've caught anybody. When a peacetime fly cop is after a miscreant, he tries to sneak up on the latter from behind as unostentatiously as possible; he doesn't take a brass band along with him. It isn't really so queer, though. The F. B. I. and its assistants are getting a heap of fun out of their job. And a large part of the sport consists in telling about it.

Spies Versus Saboteurs
Spies don't appear to me to be as dangerous as they're represented, anyway. Sabotage is something else again.

A spy's job simply is to gather information. A saboteur's stunt is to do immediate damage—to toss grit or a pebble into an enemy's physical machinery (like a munitions plant or a Panama canal lock) thus putting it out of commission.

I can understand that sabotage has got to be squelched. But a saboteur isn't apt to begin operations until out-and-out war is raging. Even then he's a hard customer to head off in advance. He's like a murderer or a burglar. He can't be convicted of murder or

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

REALLY TOO MANY

A significant feature of the convention of the American Bar Association at San Francisco, and to the casual observer, perhaps the most striking one, was the number and prominence of Federal lawyers and law officers in attendance, and the active parts they played in the sessions. This was not true of American Bar Association conventions of a few years ago.

Perhaps the reasons may be found in the facts that, within the past half dozen years there has been a tremendous increase in the number of lawyers in the Federal Service; to the vast amount of litigation to which the government is either a party or is interested by reason of the regulatory activities, and to the opportunity afforded for discussing the government's position on the many controversial matters in which it is necessarily involved.

Aside from these probable reasons, there is the more obvious fact of the growth and influence of the American Bar Association, not only within the legal profession, but in matters of public interest and public welfare, entirely aside from its activities in behalf of lawyers. The creation of the House of Delegates, giving the association a more representative form of government, has aroused more interest among the rank and file of lawyers, in its annual conventions as a forum for the discussion of purely professional matters as well as subjects of wide public interest.

One is impressed by the amount of newspaper space devoted to the recent convention and by the extent of editorial comment concerning action taken upon matters of wide public interest. All of which furnishes proof of growing importance of the American Bar Association to the legal profession, and the public regard for its considered action on matters affecting all of the people of our country.

Politics And The Court

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.
FROM various sources there has come recently sound and well deserved rebuke to those who without foundation in print or in conversation, suggest the nomination for President of one or the other of the Justices of the Supreme Court. It is generally agreed that this sort of thing is calculated to lessen public respect for the court.

WHILE it is true that in 1916 one of the great parties took its candidate from this bench, that seems now a particularly bad precedent to follow. Especially since the 1937 effort to pack the court has it seemed vital to keep its members aloof from politics and apart from politicians. There is every reason to believe that this is the feeling of the court as a whole. Nevertheless, within the past year the names of three of the justices—Stone, Roberts and Douglas—have been mentioned publicly as Presidential possibilities.

TWO OF these are Republicans and blame for the suggestion must be put upon politicians of that party. The third—Mr. Douglas—is a New Dealer and his "boom" was directly inspired by the little group of White House radicals of whom he formerly was one and with whom he still maintains close personal relations. Before going further, it may be well to say that there is not now—and has not been at any time the remotest chance of anyone of the three being nominated by either party.

ACCEPTING the assurances of Mr. Douglas' friends that his resentment over his "boom" is just as intense as that of his two colleagues over theirs and accepting also the assertion of the well-informed Mr. Krock that Mr. Douglas was with difficulty restrained some months ago from issuing an indignant statement on the subject—still a point is being made about Mr. Douglas which is not being made about anyone else on the Supreme Bench. Briefly it is this—that he has not divorced himself from politics to the extent of the others, that he still consults with the New Deal politicians on political matters and that he makes recommendations for political offices.

NOW this talk may do Mr. Douglas great injustice. It may not be true and if it is not true, Mr. Douglas ought to nail it with a statement—or his friends should nail it for him as they have the "boom" movement. It would appear more important to act about it if untrue, than about the other, because no one alleges that Mr. Douglas was promoting a "boom" for himself, but if he is mixing up in political appointments then it is his own act, which a good many will regard as unbecoming if not definitely improper, in a Supreme Court Justice.

NOT very long ago a Washington dispatch, written by usually well-informed and reliable journalists, very friendly personally to Mr. Douglas, appeared in a number of papers, which purported to show that Mr. Douglas, by no means, has put his political activities behind him. It was stated, for example, that Mr. Jerome Frank, chairman of the SEC, shortly will retire and that he will be succeeded by the garrulous and exceedingly anti-business Mr. Leon Henderson, a Mr. "Abe" Fortas is mentioned as likely to be appointed to succeed Mr. Henderson, and the flat statement made that "Mr. Justice Douglas has already endorsed him." The article then adds "the justice's recommendations to the White House carry great weight."

Girl Scout Camp Comes To Close

Camp Activities Will End With Period Of Entertainment This Evening

Two weeks of delightful camps will be brought to a close tonight for the Girl Scouts of New Castle, with their scout friends from other points in Lawrence county and Mercer county, and the journey home will be started Sunday morning.

With the camp schedule at an end, tonight will be spent in various forms of entertainment. Helen Montana, of Bessemer, writes that the Pioneers and Gypsies will give a Revolutionary Ball for the rest of the camp, and the girls will arrive in costumes of all kinds. The hostesses will serve supper, after which there will be a social period and folk dancing.

As the camp period comes to a close in each Girl Scout heart rings the words of the song: "Each campfire lights a new flame of friendship true, the joy we had in knowing you will last the whole life through."

Marjorie Howe and Marjorie Allen, of the Hobby unit, write that the girls of the Hobby and Middle unit took a boat trip Friday afternoon, in two rowboats and two canoes, to acquire their boating badge. Thanks to Marion Brown, the Hobby girls have acquired an excellent knowledge of photography and the art of developing and printing pictures.

When the girls come out of the water after swimming they are required to turn over a tag with their name on it, which is placed on a big bulletin board at the pool. The penalty for forgetting is the wearing of a sign in colored lettering, "I Am Drowned." Quite a few of the girls have had to wear the sign in their eagerness to get into other work or play.

At the Hobby unit "Scouts Own" this week the program was centered around the stars. Jean Hovis was the reader, and constellations were given by Betty Marshall, Betty Stritzinger, Jane Brown, Margaret Buckley and Roberta Street.

As no noon meal is served in camp, all girls are expected to be homebound by the noon hour tomorrow. Some will leave before breakfast, while others will get away later in the morning.

Aged Man Robbed

George L. Brown, age 84 of 301 Boyles avenue, Friday, told police a young man hoaxed him into a belief he was taking him home and robbed him of approximately $60.00.

Mr. Brown was seated alongside a young man on a Public Square bench. The latter told Mr. Brown he would take him home if he would walk to the young man's auto.

Mr. Brown accompanied the young man to a street he could not name when the young man stuck his hand into Brown's pocket, stole the money then fled.

Secretary Hall seems angry at the Japs. Evidently some tattletale has told him about their bombing of that ship a year or so ago.

What's What At A Glance

burglary before he's committed it. But a spy? His intentions are bad, doubtless. Yet how does he acquire his dope?

By peering through keyholes? Far from it. He gets books at the congressional library or official reports from the government printing office—books and reports that anybody can have by asking for 'em. He digests this stuff, puts it into what looks like confidential form and then peddles it to some potentially hostile foreign war office. Said war office might reasonably prosecute any one of these spies for obtaining money by false pretenses. Or maybe the spy might reasonably complain to the FLRB for underpaying him. Several German spies recently were convicted in New York of receiving $50 monthly from Berlin. There isn't much glamour in spying at that rate.

Foreigners Always Welcome

The sure-enough spies are the army and navy attaches at the various embassies in Washington.

These birds always have been more than welcome to inspect West Point and Annapolis, our army posts, our shipyards, our defenses generally. They've been cordially invited to ride in our newest airships. As brother craftsmen, our military folk have told 'em everything they could think of—and the attaches have reciprocated.

Is this spying? Not so you could notice it. It's diplomacy.

But the guy who gets his stuff out of an easily available book in any public library is a spy if he tries to market it.

I'm not defending spying. I only allege that spy scares are hokey. I don't believe there's a country on earth with any military secrets that are secrets from any other country that takes the trouble to read the newspapers.

What Herr Hitler has in his bean would be worth knowing—but to ascertain what that is would take, not a spy, but a mind-reader.

expected that Mr. Douglas—or any other justice—should cut himself off from all human companionship and human interest, when he was elevated to the Supreme Court.

There is no more reason for criticizing Mr. Douglas for continuing his personal New Deal friendships than there is because he accepts the invitation of the President to go down the Potomac on his yacht or attends as do the other justices, a Gridiron dinner. But making recommendations to the appointing power for political jobs is a different matter.

AS A Supreme Court Justice, Mr. Douglas may be called upon to pass upon the decisions and acts of the Securities and Exchange Commission. If he is responsible for the appointment of members of that commission it certainly would be easy to question his judicial disinterest.

Suit Against City For $25,000 Filed

Result Of Death Of Charlotte Stimple In Park Swimming Pool

Statement of claim in the case of Ralph D. and Mildred Stimple against the City of New Castle, for $25,000 damages for the death of their daughter, Charlotte Stimple at the Cascade Park swimming pool, was filed at the prothonotary's office today. Notice that the suit was to be filed was given to council about ten days ago.

The statement charges negligence on the part of the city on several counts. It is alleged that the pool was not properly guarded, that there was no grating on the pipe by which water was drained from the pool, that it was drained during the time that children were swimming, that children were not notified of the danger, and that the city failed to have necessary safety appliances.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

CHILDREN WHO HAVE PROPER EARLY TRAINING WILL USE LEISURE WISELY

If you are going to teach your child to spend his leisure hours, you must start when he is quite young. Perhaps the training will start with small trips to a park, or to the lake-shore or seashore for a picnic and bathing.

If you live in the city, the child will be fascinated by a trip to the country where he can get acquainted with cows, pigs and other farm animals. If this is beyond your means, then a ride on the street car to some point of interest will delight him.

When parents do this for a child, he very quickly learns to find a satisfying interest in the real activities of life, instead of relying on made-to-order entertainment. Besides this, it is a good idea to introduce the idea into the program for leisure hours some events in which the children can take an active part.

Of course, we can't be at the beck and call of the children all the time. We can't let them play with father's shirt studs or spread toys all over the house. But we can give them enough freedom in the home so that they will stay in it for leisure activities in which the parents haven't time to take part.

If the children are taught to put things back in place when they are finished playing; if they are properly impressed with the things they must never do in the home, they will play there happily and freely without being a nuisance to the parents or to anyone else.

This business of making the home so attractive that the child won't want to leave it all the time when he is seeking pleasure, is something that takes real thought on the part of the father and mother. Remember, it isn't something that happens just by accident; it must be planned, if it is to be a success. And it is something that the parents will get as much fun out of as the children themselves.

However, no matter how smoothly you have worked out your family routine with this in view, when your boy or girl begins to approach adolescence you will see signs of restlessness and perhaps discontent. Don't be upset about that. It doesn't mean that he is ungrateful; that he doesn't appreciate what you have done, or tried to do for him. It is merely the manifestation of his increasing desire to do things with boys and girls his own age, instead of with his family.

Parents who have made home life pleasant for the child and have taught him constructive things to do in his leisure hours will find that when he grows older, and isn't home so much, he will still enjoy from time to time the interests cultivated at home. And what is more important, it is altogether likely that in his activities with other adolescents, he will search for a good time in a well-founded, wholesome way. I don't think anyone can ask for more than that.

When adolescence begins to change the child into a man, it is time for parents to begin to train him or her in self-reliance. As many of the small decisions as can be should be left to the individual. Don't always be making up his mind for him.

Of course, there should be a general time limit, to ensure that he won't stay out too late. Letting him make decisions doesn't mean that he should be allowed to run wild.

Pig Club Roundup And Auction Will Be Held Tuesday

Four-H Clubs Of Five Counties
Will Participate In Event
At Fair Grounds

Four-H Pig club members in the counties of Beaver, Butler, Mercer, Lawrence and Venango, will hold their district round-up and auction sale at the New Castle Fair grounds Tuesday, August 29, according to County Agent Harold R. McCulloch who is assisting the adult-leaders' organization of the respective counties charged with the responsibility of the event. Approximately one hundred of the best 4-H pigs selected from the five counties will go through the round-up and sale.

On the morning of the sale, a round-up committee of adult club leaders will be in charge of showing and awarding prize ribbons. A grading committee will sort the pigs into small groups according to size, quality and finish and turn them over to the sales committee for the afternoon auction scheduled to start at 1:30 o'clock.

This enterprise, says Mr. McCulloch, is a new undertaking in this section of the state. It is a cooperative affair in which the pig club members and their adult leaders are exhibiting before the public samples of their production and making the same available on the market through the medium of the auction ring.

Schedule Given For Classes At Senior High School

Ready To Inaugurate Two-Session Day For Students During Coming Semester

In preparation for opening day at Senior High school on Wednesday, September 6, the new two-session day schedule was announced today. Due to the fact that the present registration shows that there will be 2,250 students in the school next semester, the new set-up will be tried in an endeavor to solve the seating problem.

Of the above number of students, about 1,150 are scheduled to report at 7:50 o'clock, each morning, when the tardy bell for the morning session will ring. First class period is scheduled for 8 o'clock. The remaining 1,100 students will come to school at 12:25, which is the time of the afternoon session tardy bell. First afternoon class starts at 12:35 o'clock.

Morning session will end at 12:15 o'clock and the afternoon session ends at 4:50 o'clock.

Due to the fact that but few students will remain in the school through the noon hour, the school cafeteria, that has been too small for a number of years, will not be operating.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

"Take a dose of this medicine before each meal."

What is meant by a therapeutic dose?

It is that amount necessary to produce a medicinal effect.

There are minimum doses and maximum doses.

There are single, repeated and divided doses.

The label on the bottle will indicate how much and how often.

A single dose of medicine may be given all at one time.

A divided dose—1 grain in 4 grain tablets.

A 4 grain tablet every half hour—four times.

Repeated dose—a bitter tonic taken before each meal.

Remedies are usually given 3 or 4 times daily.

Disturbing sick patients by too frequent medication is not favored.

Contributions By WPA Workers In State Banned

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 25.—Political contributions and the taking up of collections among WPA workers for any cause were banned expressly today by Col. Philip Mathews, Pennsylvania WPA administrator.

In a notice sent to all branch managers and division heads, Mathews warned that any one found permitting collections to be taken will be instantly dismissed.

"It is strictly prohibited for any one in authority to permit any person to take up collections or solicit for any cause in the WPA," wrote Mathews. "This covers not only political contributions, purchase of tickets of any kind, but collections for funerals, weddings or any cause whatsoever."

It is a fallacy to believe that exercise will help in sobering an intoxicated person. Alcohol elimination is not aided by muscular performance.

Alice Wyn And Mary Allen Win At Fair Track

Westword, Pa., Owned Bay Mare, Alice Wyn, Tops In 2:16 Pace

ROSE THE GREAT IS SECOND IN 2:16 PACE

Alice Wyn, a bay mare by Wyn Volo, owned by T. C. White, Westford, Pa., and driven by Bede, captured the 2:16 pace in straight heats in 2:12½, and Mary Allen, also a bay mare by Allen, owned by R. Jones of Salem, O., and driven by Anderson, took the 2:23 trot Friday, the concluding day of harness racing at the New Castle fair track. Several hundred patrons witnessed the pace and trot. The trot time was 2:16.

In the first heat of the 2:16 pace, Lucius I, a bay gelding owned by the Wahl Motor company of Evans City and driven by Wahl, was injured and couldn't finish the heat. The injury occurred after a break on the turn near the three-quarters mark when fourth and trailing Alice Wyn, Rose the Great and Hiawatha, Alice Wyn was first, Rose the Great second and Red Trask came fast on the stretch to take third place. The time was 2:13-1-4.

Alice Wyn led twice around the half mile oval in the second heat of the event with Rose the Great on her heels. Dakota Martin, Anderson driving, made a bid for third place but had to give way. Rose the Great, finishing second and Red Trask third. The time was 2:13-1-4.

Fastest Pace Heat
The third heat in 2:12½, with Alice Wyn again winning, was the fastest of the pace. Dakota Martin staged a stellar exhibition, neck and neck, with Alice Wyn and going into the stretch forged in front. However, Alice Wyn had stamina to call upon and won by a small margin in 2:12½.

Betty B. Beede in the seat, and Some Guy, a bay gelding by Arion Guy, owned by the Iron City Brewery and driven by Harry Serene, staged a great opening heat in the 2:23 trot. Some Guy led at the half but Betty B came up fast on the back turn and they reared neck and neck to the last turn. They came down the stretch this way until the baby cut, a gamester, forged ahead and trotted past the judges stand in 2:16. It was as nice a heat as one would want to see and the struggle caused patrons to shout themselves hoarse.

Starter Paul Wright shouted "no chance" when the trotters scored in the second heat then, discovering the field all flat, or trotting at the judges stand, shouted "Go!" Some of the drivers heard him, others claiming they did not hear him "give them the word."

Ruled Out
Betty B and Sally G. C. turned back at the turn and when the drivers were told he had "given the word", wheeled their horses and travelled a half mile only and were ruled out of the heat and race for not going the full mile. Mary Allen won in 2:18. Some Guy was second, Wanda Spier was third and Warren Volo fourth.

Betty B and Sally G. C. were banned from the third heat which was taken by Warren Volo, a bay gelding by Peter Volo, owned by the Iron City Brewery and driven by Arnold. Some Guy, owned by the brewery and ridden by Serene, finished second and Wana Spier, driven by Weller, was third. Time, 2:17-1-4.

Rose the Great, a bay mare by Peterkin, driven by Hodge and owned by Castle farms, this city, was the only New Castle horse to race yesterday. She finished second in the 2:16 pace by virtue of landing two seconds and a fifth place in the 2:16 pace.

WAMPUM HORSES SHOWN IN OHIO

Pleasant Valley Farm Horses Place In Ten Classes At Uhrichville Show

Four horses from the Pleasant Valley Farm of Wampum were exhibited Thursday and Friday at a horse show held in Uhrichville, O., in connection with a ten-day centennial celebration, and they placed in each of the ten classes in which they were entered.

George Arliss won first place in the 3-gaited combination, and third in the 5-gaited stakes. Anacacho won first place in the model class, second in the over 15-2 gaited, third in the 3-gaited combination and third in the 3-gaited stakes. Senator's Pride, a new horse at the Pleasant Valley Farm, captured second place in the plantation class. Peavine's Silver came in second in the fine harness class and third in the model 5-gaited. This horse, which made such a hit at the Lawrence County show this summer received a big hand in Uhrichville; a repeat performance was given in the show ring last evening by popular request.

A purse of $700 was offered for the two days.

Sports World Ramblings

Diamond Epitomes—White Sox fans have their own fad of acclaiming a homer. A round tripper by a Chicago player is the signal for all straws to be tossed onto the diamond. In a recent night tussle, McNair clubbed a base cleaner which deadlocked the Yanks at 5 all. The ump's halted the proceedings for more than 10 minutes to allow groundskeepers to brush aside a flock of white toppers. . . . Washington Senator officials plan to quit broadcasting games next season. . . . Last Sunday night, the Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals boarded the same train for their eastward jaunt. And, strange as it may seem, nary a word was exchanged. . . . "Buck" Newsum's love for baseball extends to his home. His study is strewn with clippings and records. Buck pitched out his wife's rug and painted, in bright green, red and brown, a baseball playing field on the floor boards! . . .

Sport vignettes from here and there—The recent lightweight championship bout was worth close to $65,000 to Armstrong and Ambers, the former triple-champ got $40,947.99 while the Herkimer flash drew down $23,398.85. . . . Jack Dempsey seems to be getting more and more popular. The ovation the former Manassas Mauler received before the start of the Ambers-Armstrong shindig overshadowed that of any other personality introduced. The applause almost tore loose the tubes. . . . Summer grid notes: Many of the well informed scribes will not be surprised if Yale does not win a single game this fall. . . . Paul Frielander, the lad involved in the Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech "wrong down" incident, may not return to the Smock City school as a gridders but only as a student.

Local sport bits—Tip to baseball scouts: Look over Bob Fennick, 18-year-old pitching sensation, who is the hottest thing around here. The Brent athlete may make you look a couple of times. His record to date is self-explanatory. Fennick has won 12 straight ball games against two defeats. Close to 100 batters have fanned the gentle breeze. Besides, he has given out slightly over 50 hits. Fennick's mound wizardry skyrocketed Brent to the first half championship of the City-County Independent loop. The lad has all the earmarks of a comer. . . . If you know of any good high school blocking halfbacks, get in touch with Phil Bridenbaugh. The Canes were all set in this important department until recently. Jim Rucker, the powerful back, was slated to fill the gap until he accepted a Shadyside Academy scholarship. His departure means the loss of one of the main cogs in this fall's edition. New Castle's loss is Shadyside's gain. . . .

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

In the judges stand at the Fair track Thursday was a former resident and an owner and driver of harness horses, Harry Eyster, now of Youngstown, whom a large number of people know. Harry was here about a score of years ago. However, since then he has raced horses here. Eyster was busy greeting old friends.

A. C. Shoaf, speed secretary, is busy at the Fair grounds. He does this, that, and things plus. A smile inches long broke across his phizog Thursday when Maxine broke the pace record, creating a mark of 2:06. Formerly Kate Hal held the mark which was 2:06 3-4. "When I would quit my daily work as a city assessor I would come to the track, fill clay in here, and there; then" added "Shoaf" I would work on other bad places." The $600 cost about $600.00, anticipated that the track mark would be broken if good weather and a fast track prevailed. I'm satisfied now" the speed secretary declared.

Paul Wright of Canfield was the starter. He got the horses away without a lot of scoring. If there is anything the patrons of harness racing dislike, it is needless scoring. This didn't occur this week. He didn't allow the men in the bugles to jockey too much around. He got them away in good style.

Artie Donovan or George Blake will be the third man in the ring when Tony Galento meets Lou Novack next month in Philadelphia. Australia's doubles team favored to defeat Yugoslavia in Davis cup play. . . . Don McNeill and Elwood Cooke, Davis cup hopes, reached final singles in Newport Casino tennis tourney. . . . Playing in a driving rain, Dorothy Kirby, 19 year old Miss from Atlanta, and Betty Jamison, 20 of San Antonio, reached final round in women's national golf match. . . . Rain forced postponement of women's Wightman cup matches. . . . Count Theo Rossi, wealthy Italian sportsman will probably be out of American speed boat racing because of European conditions.

Gridders Get Two Workouts

New Castle High Football Team Does Not Lose Any Time Getting To Work

LEAVE FOR CAMP MONDAY MORNING

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh and his New Castle High "Red Hurricane" football team lost little time Friday in getting into the swing of things again. Two strenuous workouts were held under a hot sun that beat down on Taggart Stadium Friday.
At 9:30 o'clock sharp the squad was ready for the limbering up exercises conducted by Assistant Coach Bill Klee and following a few minutes of getting the kinks out of the legs and arms, the boys were put to work improving on their work. Considerable running was done.
Again in the afternoon the squad assembled and this time the exercises were just a little bit tougher, with Klee again directing the calisthenics.

Ready For Camp
No attempt was made Friday to pick any of the young men for the camp trip Monday, but by this afternoon the coaches should know the best looking material. Here are a few of the boys sure to make the camp trip: Lauro, Roberts, Gender, Burris, Cennanne, Kulnis, Piccirillo, Zarilla, Adamo, Custrucci, Ciazza, Kelly, Sowsinski, Gennock, DeMarco and Ryglinski, this makes 16 from the last years squad, with room for 17 more young hopefuls. There are a number of likely looking boys from the three junior highs out this year.

Bright and early Monday morning the team will entrain for camp with the first camp workout slated for 9:30 o'clock.

Leaders Run Up One To Two Points, Retain Gains Most All Of Short Session

By LESLIE GOULD, International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The stock market was strong today, again expressing its hope a peaceful way out would be found abroad despite further mobilization measures and undiminished tension in Europe.

Leaders ran up 1 to more than 2 points at their highs and retained a large part of their gains in the face of later profit-taking and evening-up of positions for the week-end.

The opening saw pronounced strength in some leaders and large blocks.

U. S. Steel jumped 2 points on 2,000 shares, and kept all but a fraction.

Chrysler spurted 2 1/2 points at the start on 2,000 shares and retained 2 points.

Initial block in U. S. Rubber was 2,500 shares and the gain nearly 2 points, of which a point was held.

H. I. Case ran up 3 points, showing a thin market. American Telephone was up 2 points at its high, while Bethlehem Steel was up more than 2 points.

Other leading stocks to rise a point and more at their highs included Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Crucible Steel, General Motors, Union Carbide, Air Reduction, General Electric, Westinghouse, Montgomery Ward, Libby Owens, Owens Glass, Great Northern, Anaconda, International Nickel, Phelps Dodge, International Harvester, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Texas Corp.

Ellport Board Fails To Send Representative To Confer With Local Directors

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 26.—Members of the Ellport school board having failed to send a representative or their proposed plan for payment of delinquent tuition to a meeting of the Ellwood Board of Education held last night for that purpose, the Ellwood directors notified their secretary, G. Blaine Hancher, to send out letters notifying the pupils of Ellport that they must make arrangements to pay their own tuition if they plan to attend the local high school this year. The letters were mailed this morning and were identical with the ones sent to North Sewickley township, the other delinquent district, pupils on Friday morning.

The letters informed the pupils that they must register and pay in advance by Thursday, August 31, in order that the Ellwood district would know how many pupils will be attending.

Pending the outcome of the problem, the Ellwood board has postponed election of teachers from month to month. A special meeting of the board will be held on Thursday evening, August 31, when the election will take place.

Wayne Directors
Settle Ellwood
Tuition Problem

Make Satisfactory Arrangements For Payment Of $9,700 Of Delinquent Sum

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 26.—In a lengthy session held last evening with the local Board of Education, the Wayne township school directors ironed out their tuition difficulties, making satisfactory arrangements for payment of delinquent sums, and the high school pupils of that school district will be permitted to attend the Ellwood schools, as has been the custom in years past.

Owing the Ellwood district, $12,500 in delinquent tuition, the Wayne directors were notified some time ago that pupils could not be accepted until $10,000 was paid. The Wayne directors have agreed to float a $7,000 bond issue and at the present time their attorney, Allen D. Keller, is in Harrisburg making the necessary arrangements.

They have received an appropriation of $1,500 from a special ad fund for distressed districts. There being fifteen percent difference in the class of the Ellwood and Wayne districts, the Wayne board will receive a special tuition of 15 percent of their total tuition, or $1,200. The money will be paid before October 1. They agreed to pay in advance monthly until the amount is received and made the initial payment last evening. These three divisions total $9,700. To take care of the current tuition and the balance of the delinquent sum, they promised to pay the Ellwood district one-third of their collected current tax, month by month. By the end of the ensuing term, they should be in a good financial condition with the Ellwood board.

The Wayne township schools will begin their fall term on Tuesday, September 5 with the teaching staff and assignments to be the same as last year.

Lewis Furry was recently elected secretary of the Wayne board succeeding Frank Coleman and will assume his duties on September 1.

Wm. R. Stoughton Is Candidate For Mayor

Announces His Candidacy For Nomination At Demo-

—BUY IN NEW CASTLE—

THE NEWS, BY MAIL, 1 YEAR, $5.

WILLIAM R. STOUGHTON

I am a candidate for the Office of Mayor on the Democratic ticket. Since it will be impossible for me, between now and September 12 to interview each voter, I take this opportunity of stating my position to all voters.

We, who are residents of the City of New Castle in this particular time, face a crisis. Some blind optimists take the position that even though one-third of the City's population is on relief, the Steel Mill has been dismantled, the Geer Mill moved out, and the Shenango Plant has closed down and the W. P. A. Office has been moved to Franklin, that nothing should be said about it. They have the erroneous view point that you are disloyal to your city unless you conceal the facts.

There is another group, that in view of the foregoing facts, have become so embittered by their pathetic plight, that they allow the foregoing facts to warp their judgment, and they talk as if the city were a ghost town.

I belong to neither of these two groups. I believe we can courageously face the future, and still find hope for the truth of New Castle. We have had organizations in our midst, who, for the past ten or fifteen years have made heroic efforts to get industries into the city. We have no doubt about the sincerity of these groups in attempting to bring industries to our cities; but it is quite evident that they themselves, have no hope of industries in the immediate present to take care of all the unemployed in the city.

In this crisis, it seems sensible to me for the Mayor of New Castle, with other officers, to co-operate with the Federal Government in establishing projects in our city, because, in the present, it is the only way to provide employment for these men who have been laid off, and to provide consumers for the laborers of our City cannot survive on mere hope of new industries.

During these months it is quite evident that Federal aid is necessary for the City to survive, for without Federal funds now, many of our population face destitution and merchants bankruptcy. There is a saying to the effect, "Keep the horse alive while the oats grow." As a taxpayer and property owner for twenty-two years, I am interested in keeping the costs of government to the minimum, but for the small outlay on the part of the City Government, and for the small outlay on the part of the Federal Government, and because of the crisis in our City, and the want of employment by thousands, and the need of cash consumers by merchants, I elected Mayor of the City of New Castle. I pledge myself the full cooperation with others in the authority of Federal funds in the form of projects, and thus provide immediate employment to those that require it.

I realize that the voters will choose their candidates from their own investigation rather than from what the candidates may say, but if after such investigation you find that I am worthy of your support, I will appreciate anything and all the influence that you can exert in my behalf.

In this public avowal of my candidacy, I pledge myself to an honest administration and to devote my entire time to the duties of the office.
